Why is there a queue on the Ticketmaster Website?

It's to ensure the fairest possible purchase experience for all fans and to keep out the bots for added ticket security. Previously, everyone entered the shopping experience at once. Since automated bots are faster than a real, human fan, they can scoop up tickets before fans are able to shop and checkout. This results in tickets being sold out in a matter of minutes. With Smart Queue, we manage the flow of traffic into the shopping experience while simultaneously detecting bots and reducing their access. This gives you a fairer chance since you're only competing against other real, human fans for the same seats.
